Good practices

- The university's founding principles, educational policy and school mottos are displayed in the corridors, classrooms and other places in the campus, and enthusiastically notifying students of them has resulted in a raised awareness among students. This initiative is worthy of high evaluation.
- The "hospitality" education in the university's educational principles is incorporated throughout the entire curriculum, and student satisfaction regarding that education is high. This initiative is worthy of evaluation.
- The university effectively creates and develops teaching methods to cultivate hospitality such as the education program based on experience-based and practical industry-academia/community collaboration, the industry-academia collaborative Project Based Learning (PBL) courses, and the industry-academia collaborative learning programs aimed at global society. This initiative is worthy of evaluation.

Recommendations for improvement

- In the Faculty of Service Management department, students select departments when they move on to their second year, but the total capacity fill rate of the Department of Health and Welfare is well under 70% and improvements are required.
- Improvements are required in order that the important matters regarding education and research decided by the President according to Article 44, paragraph (1), item (iii) of the Bunri University of Hospitality Regulations are decided upon beforehand and publicized.
