Good practices

- Applicants applying for admission via recommendation are required to also sit an academic ability test and applicants applying for admission via examination are required to also undergo an interview examination. These entrance examination methods enables the university to accurately assess entrants' academic ability, which is connected to the implantation of pre-matriculation education that cannot be standardized and meticulous remedial education after entry. These initiatives are worthy of evaluation.
- Based on the university's Pre-matriculation Consultation Document system, Team Support Meetings responding to students with health concerns and students requiring support are established with not only faculty and staff but also certified clinical psychologists and nurses, providing support for learning and class instruction. This initiative is worthy of evaluation.
