Good practices

- In line with the Management Improvement Plan (academic years 2016-2020), the university has gone back into the black in the third year of the plan period through increased income from a larger number of students and cost cutting including labor costs. The fact that the university attempted and accomplished management improvement in a short period of time is worthy of evaluation.
- The IR Promotion Office creates student portfolios compiling information on students' learning and lives, and where necessary shows them to the faculty in charge of seminars. Their use in student support is an initiative worthy of evaluation.

Recommendations for improvement

- The procedures for disciplinary action against students are not appropriately stipulated by the President and improvements are required.
