Good practices

- The university has established the Office for Students with Disabilities to provide consulting for students with disabilities at open campuses prior to their enrollment. Also, the office creates a system for early identification of the need for consideration through the submission of “the Questionnaire on University Life Support,” and gives practical support for the students who need reasonable accommodation. These initiatives deserve to be evaluated.
- In response to diverse students, the Student Counseling Office has issued “the Student Support Book for Faculty and Staff,” since academic year 2019, and is working to improve the quality of faculty and staff towards students and to facilitate smooth collaboration with each division. These initiatives deserve to be evaluated.

Recommendations for improvement

- The total number of entrants in the school corporation is on a downward trend, and with regard to the fact that the current account balance has been in the red for several years, further improvements are required towards balancing income and expenditure.
