Good practices

- The Job Placement Guidebook is designed to provide a comprehensive overview of the entire job-hunting process. It covers everything from basic etiquette to how to write application documents, research potential employers, and prepare for job interviews and assessments. Its broad usability makes it a highly valuable resource. This initiative is worthy of high evaluation.
- The student evaluator system is well established and serves as an effective tool for accurately gathering and reflecting student opinions and feedback. This initiative is worthy of evaluation.
- Osaka Seikei University's LCD (Literacy, Competence, Dignity) Education Program is a structured initiative that promotes ongoing improvements in undergraduate education across faculties. This systematic approach is noteworthy and effective. This initiative is worthy of evaluation.
- The University Mid-term Plan and Internal Quality Assurance, developed by the Education and Learning Reform FSD Council, is both detailed and practical. It is aligned with the PDCA (Plan-Do-Check-Act) cycle, enhancing its clarity and effectiveness. This initiative is worthy of high evaluation.
- By incorporating student evaluator feedback into the internal quality assurance PDCA cycle, the university ensures a more meaningful and responsive quality assurance process. This initiative is worthy of high evaluation.
- The university's surveys are detailed and well-structured. The IR Promotion Office uses statistical methods to thoroughly analyze the results, which are then shared with the Education and Learning Reform FSD Council. This data-driven approach significantly enhances the effectiveness of the PDCA cycle. This initiative is worthy of high evaluation.
- Students are actively involved in the internal quality assurance PDCA cycle, and key issues are clearly articulated in the mid-term plans. This structured, collaborative approach involving both faculty and staff promotes university-wide improvement. These initiatives are worthy of high evaluation.

- The university shares updates on its internal quality assurance initiatives with external stakeholders through the Osaka Seikei University & Junior College Operational Advisory Council. This initiative is worthy of evaluation.
